The President did veto the confiscation bill, as it passed both Houses; but the majority finding out his objections, made haste to pass an amendstory act to obviate the chief objections, and the President sends in his veto and the bill signed. The supplement nullifies some of the mean feathres of the bill. with the privileges of Congress.

The Confeds, in order to enhance the power of the President and lead to a stronger central power, gave their President power to approve any part of a blll and disapprove the rest. The process at Washington amounts practically to the same thing. That was just what the framers of our institutions did not intend. It is a remarkable instance of extremes meeting. The country will be more inclined to overlook this, inasmuch as the President is more conservative than Congress; but the position of the two may be reversed, and the process is a dangerous innovation. It shows that the party in power is as crafty as it is funatical; if they could not get what they wanted, they would get what they

Affairs in Frankfort.

[From the Commonwealth, 18th.]
THE MOROAN RAID.—For several days receding the last Sabbath, telegraphic and other rumors had reached here that Morgan was in full march upon the Capital and Lexington, and at the head of a force variously estimated at from fifteen hunrebels had been at Lebanon and Glasgow, but it was doubtful whether under the command of Jack Allen or Champ Ferguson—it being generally believed that Morgan himself had gone to Richmond to assume the command of Ashby's Legion and to act in concert with Stonewall Jackson. Rumors, however, came crowding in fast and thick, that the band had suddenly ap-peared in Danville, and then at Harrodsburg, were strengthening themselves by new levies, and would move direct upon owners, but the House refused to listen to Lexington and then come to Frankfort to fulfill the vow of the Knights of the Golden Circle to plant the Confederate flag on the dome of the State House.

greatly to the tranquility of our little town But on Sunday there came the news, with Morgan was certainly at Rough and Ready sometime during Sunday. To meet and rein the place, although we were cheered with as a regiment had been telegraphed as being on the way. But then Morgan might here before the regiment did-and what then? It was all important to check him some distance from town, and give him the best fight we could. The Court House bell was rung, the citizens flocked in, the Hon. James Harlan took the Chair, and propounded the question whether we should surrender or defend the town? The latter proposition was carried unanimously. Mr. Harlan then proposed that the whole force, whatever it might be, be placed under the mmediate command of Lieutenant-Colonel George W. Monroe, of the Twenty-second Regiment, who was casually in Frankfort on business connected with his Regiment now at Cumberland Gap. This was carried with an enthusiastic shout, and Col. Monroe accepted the charge with the assurance that he would do his best to protect his own beloved city of Frankfort. Capt. Mills was present, and summoned his company of fome Guards to repair at once to the armory, and get ready 10 march. There still remained some seventy or cighty citizens who were not enrolled in any regular company, but they mustered upon the public square, and there chose for their officers Robert Richardson (SuperIntendent of Public Instruction) for Captain, Major John B. In the morning of the same day, upon a free alarm of Morgan's approach, they we marched back again to their old position, but while there, received certain intelligence that Morgan had crossed the river at a ferry some miles above, and was then in the neighborhood of Versailles. By this time the Eighty-fifth Ohio had arrived, and Frankfort was pro-nounced impregnable from any assault that the rebels could make. The citizens then laid seide their arms and returned to their

The Kentucky gentleman says there were several hundred men on hand to defend Cynthiana, but they were not well organmoved up to open on them, when it was discovered that their demonstration was a feint, and that the real attack was to be made by the main body of the rebels on the opposite side of the town. At this moment the train left. As it was moving off, our informant saw Capt. Glass with his gun going at full speed to repel the main attack. There had been a rumor circulated on the train be-fore this, by some badly frightened hoys, that Capt. Glass was killed. Of course it was ncorrect, as our informant saw him doing his duty after the story of his death was circulated. The rebels fired hotly on the train, as many as fifteen halls striking it. The are was returned from some ten muskets aboard, probably without effect. The firing of the rebels was principally at the of his cap cut off by a ball. No one was injured. COBINTH, June 29, 1862. For some time reports have been brought here by citizens, prisoners and deserters coming from the vicinity of Okolona, that the Commander-in-Chief of the rebel armies in the West had left that place about the middle of the present month for Richmond The report being always coupled with the statement that the greater portion of his army had left, or was preparing to leave, for Eastern Virginia, it was not credited direct and indirect evidence of a more positive and trustworthy character showing the respective location of the four army corps and reserve that had confronted our army before this place between Guntown, Oko lona and Grenada, coming in at the same

By the arrival on yesterday of several released Union officers, captured at Shiloh, and held in captivity at Grenada, Jackson and Columbia, Miss., we have at last a proper explanation of the first-mentioned report. These officers having had good means of information, partly by having the liberties of the towns in which they were held, and partly by their intercourse with rebel officers, their accounts may well be considered trustworthy.

They state that It is the common report and general and firm belief, both among the well-informed rebel officers and citizens they had opportunity to converse with, that Beauregard had evacuated Corinth contrary to express, explicit and percmptory orders of Jeff. Denunciations of his Gallic arrogance, dictatorial presumption, and excessive vainglorious-ness, and especially of the vast difference between what he promised to accomplish and what he has actually accomplished, are much more frequent among rebel officers than expressions of satisfaction. No regret at his transfer to the East seemed to be manifested by anybody.

Van Dorn's and Breckinridge's divisions, together about twenty thousand strong, have both been sent to the defense of that city. The other divisions of Bragg's army—that lately commanded by himself and General Polk—are reported to have and General Folk—are reported to have fallen back from the vicinity of Tupello Station, on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, to the junction of the latter with the road running eastward from Vicksburg. The force that evacuated Fort Pillow, and was partially at Changle is also said to have they are made to guard against a Federal demonstration to the rear by forces expect-ed to be sent down the Mississippi by Gen. Grant.

The reported appearance of Hardee's division in Northern Alabama seems to have some foundation in fact. It is now believed here that it is intended for the Milkey July 10.—A special dispatch to the Advertiser, dated Jackson, to-day, says the enemy is throwing occasional shells into re-enforcement of the body concentrated at Chattanooga for the defense of that place. At all events, it may be considered certain that General Buell will not be able to occupy Chattanooga without overcoming the resistance of a considerable body of the enemy. That town is altogether too important a point, opening, as its possession will, both Georgia and North Carolina to invasion, and render the abandonment of the rebel armories and founderys at Rome says last Saturday morning Butler visited necessary, to warrant its bloodless surren- Baton Rogue and made several arrests for

CINCITNATI, July 13. A man came into Boyd's station, on the Kentucky Central railroad, this morning, says he has just come from Cynthiana; he says the city surrendered at about 5 o'clock last evening, the fighting lasting about 30 minutes; he saw Morgan and his men, and says the number is about 2,500 men, and he shook hands with Col. Morgan and talked with him; Morgan disarmed him and passed him; he says Morgan treated him with oliteness and also reports that both bridges at Keller's and Kimbrough's are burned. A soldier also came into Boyd's, and says

Morgan's men fired two rounds after the surrender. Capt. Upon a short consultation, we concluded to change our base of operations, immediately started back for Lexington; we did not retreat, but like Beauregard at Corinth, fell back to secure a better position. The next morning (Monday) Capt. Taylor, myself and eight or ten others, went down to Midway with an engine and one platform car, and whilst there repaired the road, and telegraph line. Mr. J. H. Wollums, the operator and postmaster of that place, in-formed us of the following facts, which are corroborated by a number of citizens: Morgan entered Midway about 11 o'clock, A. M. Tuesday, and left at 4 P. M.; his men were very restless, seemingly anticipating an attack from Lexington and Frankfurt; he had about eight or nine hundred men; they took from Mr. Wollums, post master, $65 10 in cash, $140 worth of stamps, and a pistol valued at $25; also the telegraph attery They took horses from the Union men, our men losing five; got a few from seces-sionists; but upon representations from prominent men of that party, in the town, Morgan gave all the secesh orders for their horses, and they were given up. But for the interference of several secessionists the depot would have been burned; an or-ward countermanded. We left Midway for Lexington, and reached the latter place at 12 o'clock, M. At our regular hour, 2 o'clock, P. M., started for Louisville. When we reached Yarnell's station, seven miles from Lexington, one of the division hands on the road informed us that the guerrilas had appeared in Midway a short time after we left, and had done their first work over. Also, that they had pickets out two miles above Midway, in order to cut us off after we had passed them. Being short of supplies, we, like Gen. Price, at Pea Ridge, retired slowly

A messenger from Paris, this morning, reports a fight at Cynthiana on Thursday. Thos. Ware, United States Commissioner of that place, was killed, and Lieut, Col Landrum, of the 18th Kentucky, wounded. One rebel Captain and several soldiers on the same side were killed.

The latest news at Lexington, at 1 P. w. was, that Morgan was traveling in the direction of Winchester, Clark county.

Respectfully, Another Account.

From a gentleman who came down on last night's Lexington train, and who has spent three or four days in that place, we have some facts worthy of especial note Morgan's raid is having a fine effect in arousing the Union men of Fayette and surrounding counties. Secessionists are also denouncing him and his cut-throat marauders, some of them going so far as to down from Lexington last night, that Gen. arm and join the Union meu in pursuing bert's Mountain Hair Restorative," manu-Green Clay Smith is now in command at him. Lt. Colonel Landrum, of the 18th Kenucky, and 30 of his men, arrived in Lexington yesterday, having made their escape from Cynthiana; the rest of his command are believed to have been killed or taken prisoners, but how numerous was his force onr informant did not learn. Col. Landrum's men report that Capt. Dick Gano, in command of the Texas Rangers, was killed in the fight on Thursday.

Our informant is confident that Morgan's total forces, do not exceed nine hundred men, but we think they will be found to be three times as many.

This news is up to 1 P. M. yesterday, at which time the train left; if later news comes, it will be found in our telegraphic columns.

Five additional prisoners who escaped from Camp Morton some days ago, were captured on Thursday, about nine miles from Indianapolis. Their names are as country, Ind.; J. E. Hopkins and W. R. WASHINGTON, July 18.

HEADQUARTERS ABMY OF VA., } GENERAL ORDERS No. 7 .- The people of the Valley of the Shenandoah, and throughout the region of operations of this army, living along the lines of railroad and tele graph, and along the routes of travel in the rear of the United States, are notified that they will be held responsible for any lnjury done the track, line or road, or any attacks upon trains or straggling soidiers by bands of guerrillas in their neighborhood. No privileges or immunities of war can apply to lawless bands of individuals not forming part of the organized forces of the enemy, nor wearing the garb of soldiers, who, seeking and obtaining safety on the pretext of being peaceful citizens, steal out in the rear of the army, attack and murder straggling soldiers, mo-lest teams of supplies, destroy railroads, telegraph lines and bridges, and commit outrages disgraceful to civilized people and revolting to humanity. Evil-disposed persons in the rear of our armies, who do not themselves engage directly in these lawless acts, encourage by refusing to interfere, to give only information by which such acts can be prevented, or the perpetrators pun-ished. Safety of the life and property of all persons llving ln the rear of our advancing army depend upon the maintenance of peace and quiet among themselves, and upon the unmolested movements through their midst of all pertaining to the military service. They are to understand dis-tinctly that the security of travel is their warrans of personal safety. It is therefore ordered that whenever a railroad, wagon road or telegraph is injured by parties of guerrillas. The citizens living within five miles of the spot shall be turned out en masse to repair the damage, and shall besides pay the United States in money or property, to be collected by mili-tary force; the full amount of the pay and subsistence of the whole force neces-sary to coerce the performance of the work during the time occu-pied in the completion of it. If a soldier or legitimate follower of the army be fired upon from any house, the house shall be razed to the ground, and the inhabitants sent prisoners to the headquarters of this army. If such an outrage occurs at any place distant from settlements, the people within five miles around shall be held accountable, and made to pay au Indemnity sufficient for the case, and any presons detected in such outrage, either during the act or at any time afterward, shall be shot without waiting civil process. No such acts can in-fluence the result of this war, and they can only lead to heavy affliction to the population to no purpsoe. It is therefor enjoined upon all persons both for the security of their property, and the safety of their own persons, that they act vigorously and partially together to prevent the perpetration of The Inquirer says that Gen. FORTIG James L P FRENCH. Mone Lehrar Mons Eugene Cordier 1TALIAN. Sig Paulo Backgulari Boff Persons calling for any of the above letters will places sey "advertised" JNO. J. SPEED, Postmaster. RIOTING.—There was a shameful and most deplorable riot in the Thirteenth ward last night. The houses of negroes were stoned, a number of windows being broken and doors battered. The negro church on Sixth street was stoned, and several shots were fired. We did not hear that any persons were seriously hurt, but the wonder is they were not. The city is indebted to the forbearance of the unoffending negroes, whose houses were assaulted, for the fact that the riot was not made a bloody one. It is imperatively necessary that this rioting should be stopped If it continues any longer, there is no telling how far it may go. The negroes are the victims thus far, but if the Cases Choice STYLE SPRING PRINTS; mob spirit is permitted to gather force, it will soon proceed to assault and destroy irrespective of color or condition. The rioters atour wharf, who have been permitted to have their own way for soveral days, have not only driven of the negro, but the German laborers. That is exactly the way it goes.

The great difficulty with all other old-style Machines is too much compileration, requiring so much constant adjustment, and such an amount of mechanical skills and ingenuity to use them to advantage, as to render them of little comparative value.

But the Sewing Machines manufactured by Greenman & Trus are not liable to these objections, as any person, on even a moment's examination, will readily discover. They will do more and better work than any other Machine over offered to the public, making the most beautiful lack-stitch, slike on both sides. Bend for an off-hand specimen of sewing apon any material you wish, and you will then see now it is done.
